The Net Asset Value (NAV) at launch was 98.0p per ordinary share based on the subscription price of 100.0p per ordinary share and launch costs of 2.0p per ordinary share.

1. Gearing calculations are exclusive of current year revenue/loss.

2. Management fees are charged 80% to capital and 20% to revenue. The management fee is calculated to comprise the sum of two elements: (a) 50 per cent. of the NAV (on a cum income basis); and (b) 50 per cent. of the lower of (i) the Company's market capitalisation (on a mid-market basis) and (ii) NAV (on a cum income basis). Ongoing charges (OCR) are calculated at the latest published year end date. Ongoing Charges are the total operating expenses of the Company expressed as a percentage of the average daily net asset value during the year. The OCR shows the annual percentage reduction in the net asset value as a result of the costs of running the Company. The OCR for the year to 30 November 2024 was 0.85%. The figures are current estimates and may change in the future. Please see the Annual Report and Financial Statements for further information about the calculation of fees.

3. The Historic Yield reflects distributions declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the share price, as at the date of this fact sheet. It does not include any initial charge and investors may be subject to tax on their distributions.

4. Ordinary share price (TR) is calculated by reinvesting dividends at relevant ex-dividend dates, not taking into account returns shareholders would have received from the subscription shares issued at launch. Please note subscription shares were subject to a single exercise date being 31 July 2017.

5. The MSCI ACWI Financials Net Total Return Index was adopted as the Trust's benchmark in April 2020.

6. A tender offer was carried out on 22 April 2020 following approval to extend the Company's life indefinitely. A further tender offer was carried out on 17 June 2025.

Risk Warning Your capital is at risk. You may not get back the full amount you invested. Please note the Risks and Important information at the end of this document, and the Investment Policy and full Risk Warnings set out in the Prospectus, Annual Report and/or Investor Disclosure Document.

Discount Warning The shares of investment trusts may trade at a discount or a premium to Net Asset Value for a variety of reasons including market sentiment and market conditions. On a sale you could realise less than the Net Asset Value and less than you originally invested. Fund Managers' Comments

Market and Trust review

Global markets saw a volatile start to the year impacted by heightened geopolitical risk ranging from regime change in Venezuela, US pressure over Greenland and deadly protests in Iran. The surprise nomination of Kevin Warsh, considered an inflation hawk, as the next Federal Reserve Chair contributed to the market's volatility. With macro data broadly surprising to the upside, cyclicals outperformed and returns have broadened outside the US with emerging markets and Europe materially outperforming. The Trust's NAV rose 0.9% in the month, outperforming the MSCI ACWI Financials Index by 1.8%, supported by the overweight position in Europe, strength in Asian life insurers and trading platforms (in both the US and Europe). This was partially offset by weakness in certain emerging market holdings (in India and Indonesia) and the underweight in HSBC Holdings.

Democratisation of trading

The democratisation of trading is a key theme for PCFT through its holdings in companies like Interactive Brokers Group, FlatexDEGIRO, Plus500 and IG Group Holdings. Advances in technology, lower costs and fractional ownership have lowered the barriers to entry for investment and empowered individuals to participate in investing earlier and more actively. These trends have coincided with behavioural shifts: younger generations, particularly millennials, are investing at earlier ages than previous cohorts thanks to greater access, innovation in products offered (predictive markets being the latest iteration) but also affordability barriers to home ownership. This structural shift in retail demand has led to strong growth for those trading platforms that can offer low costs, transparent pricing and a robust online offering. For example, Interactive Brokers Group, a holding in the Trust, reported a 32% year-on-year increase in client accounts to 4.4m in 4Q25. In response to demographic shifts and growing savings gaps, we are also seeing increased policy maker support to incentivise earlier long-term savings through tax changes and pension reform. One example is in Germany where Chancellor Merz has emphasised the requirement to modernise the German pension system through expanding the role for capital-funded private retirement savings and occupational pension schemes. We would expect progress on German pension reform to provide a material support to growth for companies like FlatexDEGIRO, a leading European online broker we view as well placed to sustain its strong growth.

US bank results

Recent results for banks in the US have largely come in ahead of expectations and have reassured on the outlook. US bank guidance implies double-digit earnings growth for 2026 (following a 17% increase last year) supported by lower funding costs, a pick-up in lending and a revival in capital market activity, positive operating leverage and a lower share count. While provisioning is expected to see a small increase (related to loan growth), asset quality data (non-performing loans -1bp) and commentary in the quarter pointed to a broadly stable picture. Regulatory developments received a lot of attention following President Trump's call for a one-year 10% cap on credit card rates which weighed on the card lenders. We believe there is a relatively low probability of this passing through Congress, given the subsequent restriction on credit to borrowers, but expect elevated noise on potential populist measures ahead of the mid-term elections. Despite the recent threat to impose rate caps for card lenders, we consider the broader theme of regulatory easing for banks to continue. This is primarily driven by new leadership at the Federal Reserve, the Options Clearing Corporation and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) which are looking to recalibrate the supervisory approach with a focus back to responsible growth.

Artificial intelligence

AI vendor Anthropic's launch at the end of the month of new plug-ins for Claude CoWork weighed on share prices within the Software, Data and Business Services sectors. This concern spread to Alternative Asset Managers with those companies with larger investments in the technology sector seeing the steepest sell-offs. There is an ongoing reassessment by the market of what constitutes proprietary data, what value customers will place on data services and ultimately what 'moat' companies operating within these sectors will have in the future. As with other paradigm shifts, the market is struggling to adapt to the pace of change with often little discrimination as to which businesses are exposed to AI disruption. Similarly, the rise of agentic-AI has impacted sentiment for the payments sector with merchant acquirers potentially at risk of disintermediation if they no longer become the orchestration layer for autonomous transactions. While the often-indiscriminate selling pressure has opened up opportunities for investment, it will take time to disprove the bear case, during which AI developments will continue to be revealed, so we have reduced the Trust's exposure to the sub-sectors exposed and are now further underweight.

Outlook

In what has been a volatile month with markets impacted by both geopolitical and technological developments, we have been encouraged by recent results which have highlighted solid operating trends and have built conviction in the core themes the Trust is invested in.

Performance relates to past returns and is not a reliable indicator of future returns.

It should not be assumed that recommendations made in future will be profitable or will equal performance of the securities in this document. A list of all recommendations made within the immediately preceding 12 months is available upon request.

Risks

- Investors' capital is at risk and there is no guarantee the Company will achieve its objective.
- Past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance.
- The value of investments may go down as well as up.
- Investors might get back less than they originally invested.
- The value of an investment's assets may be affected by a variety of uncertainties such as (but not limited to): (i) international political developments; (ii) market sentiment; and (iii) economic conditions.
- The shares of the Company may trade at a discount or a premium to Net Asset Value.
- The Company may use derivatives which carry the risk of reduced liquidity, substantial loss and increased volatility in adverse market conditions.
- The Company invests in assets denominated in currencies other than the Company's base currency and changes in exchange rates may have a negative impact on the value of the Company's investments.
- The Company invests in a concentrated number of companies based in one sector. This focused strategy can lead to significant losses. The Company may be less diversified than other investment companies.
- The Company may invest in emerging markets where there is a greater risk of volatility than developed economies, for example due to political and economic uncertainties and restrictions on foreign investment. Emerging markets are typically less liquid than developed economies which may result in large price movements to the Company.

Glossary

Active Share, a measure of how actively a portfolio is managed, is the percentage of the portfolio that differs from its benchmark. It is calculated by deducting from 100 the percentage of the portfolio that overlaps with the benchmark. An active share of 100 indicates no overlap with the benchmark and an active share of zero indicates a portfolio that tracks the benchmark.

Alpha is the excess return on an investment in the Company compared to the benchmark and can be used as a measure of performance, where the benchmark is considered to represent the market's movement as a whole.

Derivatives are instruments whose value is linked to another investment, or to the performance of a stock exchange or to some other variable factor, such as interest rates.

Discount is where the share price of an investment company is lower than the net asset value per share.

Discrete Performance is the percentage performance of an investment over specific, defined time periods.

Emerging markets are countries that are progressing toward becoming advanced, usually shown by some development in financial markets, the existence of some form of stock exchange and a regulatory body.

Gearing is all external borrowings of the Company and any subsidiaries.

Management Fee is the entitlement of the Investment Manager to an annual management fee. Please see the Explanation of Fee Arrangements available on the Company's website for further information, found at: <https://www.polarcapitalglobalfinancialstrust.com/Key-Information/#/Overview>

"NAV" or "Net Asset Value" has the value of all assets of the Company less liabilities to creditors (including provisions for such liabilities) determined in accordance with the Company's accounting policies, applicable accounting standards and the Company's constitution.

Ongoing Charges are the measure of what it costs to run the Company, including the Management Fee and other operating costs; these costs are not passed on to investors in the price they pay for the shares of the Company.

Premium is where the share price of an investment company is higher than the net asset value per share.
